

I feel the ability for XM radio to provide its PAYING customers with Instant Traffic and Weather is a great feature and a necessity. So many times on AM/FM radio I am forced to listen for 10-20 minutes at a time just to hear the traffic or the weather in my area. In the event I have to turn the radio down for a second for whatever reason and I miss the information I was waiting for I am again forced to listen for another 10-20 minutes for the information I need. With XM Radio providing these features it allows me to get the information I want, when I want it, without having to wait for 10-20 minutes at a time on the traditional AM/FM radio channels. I feel that it is XM's first ammendment right to provide this service to its paying customers to make them happy during their commutes and their travels and reduce the risk of 'road-rage' that may occur from listeners that have to wait 10-20 mins at a time for something their want to hear NOW. Jeremy